Stone Cladding on External Walls by Adelaide Marble

Article published on December 20th 2011 | Home Improvement

External walls are prone to withering with change in climatic conditions. These are difficult to maintain and need extra care as compared with internal walls. Stone cladding with proper material is the right option to curb such problems like constant expenditures and regular maintenance.

Stone cladding Adelaide is available in thin stone products which are natural colored products that last long. Main reason behind choosing natural stone wall cladding Adelaide is that it doesnâ€™t fade under harsh climatic conditions and secondly it maintains the look on the wall with little care.

Light Weight: Stone cladding tiles used in external walls is thin and light in weight. Natural stone in itself is thick and heavy-weight. On the contrary, natural stone tiles are light in weight and stay at one place where these are installed providing a permanent solution to wall cladding.

Practical Solution: Stone cladding Adelaide have an option to be installed on pre-built walls and on newly constructed walls. Hence, people having pre-built homes can also opt for stone cladding without any difficulty. Wall cladding is easy on practically any wall with no additional support, giving leverage to people to opt for this option, without thinking twice.

Cost Effective: Real natural stone cladding tiles are thin and available at comparatively cost-effective prices. Reason is these stones are cut in thin strips which need lesser installation cost and lesser maintenance cost. These are not prone to heavy breakage ensuring lesser loss due to breakage.

Durability and non-combustibility: Natural stone cladding is durable. It has all the essential features needed to withstand and take care of wallsâ€™ maintenance. Time and money is easily invested in other options also but the one which gives maximum benefit to walls should be chosen. Stone cladding Adelaide is chosen as this option is durable and non-combustible.

Color fast: Stone cladding with natural stone tiles maintain color of the stone and the aura of walls for decades and even centuries with proper maintenance and care. Colorfast tiles give a definite meaning to the place.

Easy to install: Stones cladding Adelaide with natural stone tiles are easy to install as these are light in weight.

Above mentioned factors are enough reasons to opt for stone cladding on external walls, immaterial of your place being new or old.
