According to Vince Lombardi, "Individual commitment to a group effort - that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilization work." Building a strong organization that leaves a mark on this world has to be built on a strong foundation, and time is the key to cultivate its people for years to come. Just like a strong tree cannot be grown in a day; it takes thousand years to see its true magnificence, similarly the head of the institution has to constantly think about creating a system that binds his world together. People are not machines, and they cannot be treated like tools for the goals of the organization. The life force of the organization can only be driven towards a positive growth, if the true contributors of the organization are appreciated for their efforts towards the final goal. The corporate team has to be nurtured constantly to keep up the efforts towards a positive change, and giving the right kind of recognition is the key to win the game. There are many organizations that hold their yearly corporate events where they list down the achievements of the year, and give out corporate awards to the true achievers. These awards are powerful tools if the organization knows how to use them towards their advantage efficiently.

There are many symbols and brand images that corporations tend to use to represent their corporate image. Such images are used to project a strong corporate culture that they run, and the roots created by these images runs deep into the hearts of the people connected to them. These powerful tools can be combined with the different designs of corporate awards, and create a strong system of subtle company image projection at the same time. This is a tool used by corporations for many years to leave their mark around the world so that people would remember their work for generations to come. These alternate methods of marketing have worked wonders in the world, and took many corporations to the top of the world. Many corporations use their corporate headquarter architectural buildings to create Lucite replicas as the base of the design. This becomes a strong reminder to all the members of the organization, and gives them a strong feeling of belongingness towards the people they work for everyday. The artist and designers involved in the project have highly evolved skills over the years which have been used to create these amazing master pieces for the right price.
