Article published on December 13th 2011 | Auto

4x4 vehicles are good for more than safaris and driving off-road. Today, vehicles like the Toyota Rav 4 have started to take over cities and suburbs. Here are just a few reasons why:

1. Better traction and handling. 4x4 cars have power applied to all four wheels, reducing the chance that a wet, snowy or icy road will cause your vehicle to lose traction and control. Many supercars feature 4 wheel drive. The reason for this is that 4 wheel drive cars not only handle better in bad weather, but also in good weather and on good road conditions. If you are a spirited driver, you will enjoy the stability and grip of a four-by-four.

2. Better driving position. Most SUV type vehicles sit higher than regular cars and station wagons. This gives you a better perspective and the ability to see more of the road ahead of you, increasing safety for all the family.

3. Better cargo capacity. Four wheel drive vehicles typically have large boot areas, accessed by lift gates or swing gates which let you load large items. If you have dogs, or a large family with equipment, or just need to pack a large number of items with you when you travel, a sport utility vehicle is perfect. It is the perfect car for holidaying in - comfort, luggage space and reliability are all important considerations when taking a long road trip and these are all things provided by a 4x4.

4. Better safety. Four wheel drive vehicles tend to be both larger and heavier than regular cars. This gives you a natural advantage over obstacles or smaller vehicles in an accident. In addition, their superior traction can help you to avoid situations that would cause a two wheel drive vehicle to crash.

5. Better presence. Many four wheel drive vehicles are just simply cool. They combine the practicality of a minivan or station wagon with a tough, rugged appearance. Combine that with the new technology found within the vehicle itself such as MP3 players, LCD screens and top of the range trim and you will be proud to drive around friends.

If you are in the market for a new vehicle then an excellent option to consider is a 4x4. As you consider their advantages, you will see why they are so popular. Whether you are doing the school run, taking the dog for a walk or holidaying across country then any variation of this highly popular car is a good one to pick.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/auto-articles/5-reasons-4x4-vehicles-are-not-just-for-off-roading.htm - Article Side

Allyson James - About Author:
Interested in all things automotive, particularly family cars, a 4x4 vehicles and currently own a a Rav 4

Article Keywords:

4x4, Cars, SUVs, SUV, Rav 4, Auto, Vehicle, buy

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!