A Look at the 2010 Lincoln Navigator, the Luxury SUV by Maria Wegner

Article published on June 13th 2012 | Auto

If you're scouring used car dealerships in Ontario to search for that perfect SUV, you might want to consider the 2010 model of the Lincoln Navigator. Touted as the bigger and classier brother of the Ford Expedition, it's one of the best cars in the luxury SUV category during its model year and is available in most used car dealerships. Imagine driving a luxury car without spending that much money—isn't that every driver's dream?

The Lincoln Navigator was first introduced in the 1998 model year and was Lincoln's first SUV, as well as the first four-wheel drive vehicle of the brand. It had the same platform as the Ford Expedition, and the difference between the two is that the Navigator belongs in the luxury category. A few years ago, when the Navigator's current generation was unveiled, it became the car to own if you wanted to make a statement—and it is still able to defend that spot with its 2010 model.

Engine and Performance

Take away all the luxury features, and the Lincoln Navigator would still be one of the most powerful SUVs available, with a 5.4L V8 engine that is capable of towing up to 9,000 pounds. It produces around 310 hp with 564lb.-ft. of torque. During tests, the Navigator went from zero to sixty in 8.2 seconds and has a fuel economy of 14mpg in the city and 20mpg on the highway.

Safety

The Navigator is fully loaded with all the safety features anyone can want and was awarded perfect ratings after front and side collision tests. Additional safety features for the 2010 model include the MyKey system, which allows parents to set maximum speed and speaker volume for teen drivers.

Interior Design

The Navigator is one of the biggest SUVs you can buy. Used Lincolns Brampton dealerships sell can seat up to eight people comfortably and is packed with a dizzying set of luxury features. The overall design and body would remind you of a modernized vintage Navigator, which is a nod to the past model.

Driving Impression

As expected, the Navigator offers one of the smoothest rides and tomb-like silence while driving. The 2010 Navigator also earns brownie points for being more agile and maneuverable than older models. Used Lincolns Mississauga dealerships sell also shift quickly, and the engine has more-than-adequate power to ensure that no one crosses you on the street.

If you're looking for a powerful and statement-worthy ride, check out Navigators at dealerships that sell used Lincolns Brampton, Mississauga, and the rest of Ontario's residents trust.
