The Indian car market ranks seventh largest in the world, even bigger than France, U.K. and Spain by volume. The volume growth was a very healthy 25.6% in FY 10 which maintained its momentum in FY 11 registering 29.8% growth in the first 11 months. High disposable income coupled with solid economic growth, easy financing options and favorable demographics (50% of population under the age of 25), growing urbanization, rising trends in nuclear families are primary reasons for driving this growth.

With such upsurge in sales expected sales of cars in India in FY 11 had touched a figure of about 2.5 million of passenger vehicles. There is a mild slump in car sales during the last few months with the current recessionary situation in the global markets, a steadily falling rupee, stifling liquidity crunch and rising interest rates. Consequent upon this robust growth history car manufacturers bring out new versions with attractive features to whet appetite of Indian car users. Thus, every year newer models are released with improvised features in the auto expos.

Some of the latest models of upcoming cars as announced by the different car manufacturers for 2012 are â€¢ Nissan Murano â€“ Gives you a stunning appearance with attractive features from Nissan stable.

â€¢ Tata Dolphin â€“ The 800 cc model is supposed to be an intermediary between the Tata Nano and Tata Indica.

â€¢ Nissan Evalia

â€¢ Tata Safari Storme

â€¢ Chevrolet Spark Electric â€“ This is a hybrid car â€¢ Fiat Bravo â€“ A premium hatchback car which is also a compact family car â€¢ Volvo C70 - A luxurious car with safety, performance and style â€¢ Hyundai Avante â€“ The new generation car

â€¢ Audi A5

â€¢ Rolls-Royce Ghost 4WD â€“ One of the great luxury saloon cars â€¢ Hyundai i30

â€¢ Ford Focus

â€¢ Peugeot 207 â€“ Another addition to its hatchback models

â€¢ Mitsubishi Colt

â€¢ Jaguar CX75 â€“ Exclusive hybrid car â€¢ Audi A3 â€” The luxury sports car from Audi stable which is also very compact

â€¢ Maruti Suzuki Palette
