Article published on January 2nd 2012 | Aviation

Bombay is a melting pot of cultures. It is India's most populated city. Glitzy malls, fashion shows, restaurants and bungalows are one part of the city. On the other hand, acute poverty can be witnessed in the slums. This is the enigma of the city.

Bombay has earned the reputation of an excellent tourist destination. Thus, flights to Bombay have also increased. Good flight deals are offered by the many travel companies for visiting Bombay. These deals also include hotel bookings, travel insurance and sightseeing tours.

Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus is the historic railway station that deserves a visit. It's the busiest railway station of India and was formerly known as Victoria Terminus. The station building has influences of both Victorian Gothic architecture and traditional Indian architecture. It has been declared a UNESCO world heritage site.

Another UNESCO world heritage site worth a visit is the Elephanta Caves. There are two sets of caves to visit here- the Hindu and Buddhist caves. The Hindu caves have various rock-cut stone sculptures of the Lord Shiva.

Flights to Bombay have multiplied due to its growth as the fashion hub of India. It is also an excellent shopping destination. Various shopping malls, street markets and emporia abound in the city. Visitors can buy handicrafts, gift items, clothes, books, jewelry and electronic items from these markets. The city offers delicious cuisines to the travelers. Dishes like Bhelpuri, Pav Bhaji and Pani Puri are high on demand. The regional specialty- Bombay Duck is highly recommended. Further, there are numerous restaurants which offer both regional and international dishes.

The city has an excellent nightlife. Pubs and bars like Aaziano, Red Light, Squeeze, Rock Bottom etc. are places where people can enjoy to the hilt. Presence of numerous discotheques enhances the fun quotient.

Various festivals and theatres can be enjoyed in Bombay. The city has many art galleries like the Jehangir Art gallery and National Gallery of Modern Art. These are cultural centers and exhibits artwork of various artists.

The city is home to the Hindi movie industry. It is also the birthplace of Indian cinema. International film festivals and number of award ceremonies are held here. Further, the city has many studios and production houses too.

The city and its beauty overwhelm visitors the moment they set their foot on its soil. An enriching experience awaits you in this magical land. So, pack up your bags and head for this interesting destination.
