Go Air - a Look at the Popular Airline by Suhana Kalra

Article published on March 7th 2012 | Aviation

Go Air is a privately owned airline that has caused quite a positive stir in the Indian Aviation Industry. The airline is the brainchild of the Wadia Group. It is among the fastest growing airways in the aviation industry.

Under its brand name the airline renders its bouquet of services. The brand has been positioned as a low cost airline offering cheap air tickets to the passengers. There are options for the passengers to choose from according to their budget. The airline kicked off its operations back in the year 2005. The airline has been offering flights to a total of 15 destinations through a total 700 flights in a week. Almost 100 flights take passengers across India every day.

The flight plan of the airline has been designed to connect all the important cities across the country. There is a Mumbai-Delhi flight, flights to Bangalore as well as Mumbai-Goa flights. The airline also offers cheap air tickets to the various business and holiday destinations across India.

The airline also offers a number of promotional packages at cheap as well as affordable offers that can surely help to attract customer attention. It not only offers a way to save money, but also proves to be time saving through timely, on- schedule services.

The airline is also known to offer an excellent online air booking service too. It is very easy for the flyers to book their tickets online. Also the cancellation process is easy too. The charges for cancellation are absolutely minimal.

For the details of the various flights the official website proves to be a worthy resource by making available a comprehensive flight schedule designed to clearly state the time of departure and arrival of the various flights. This helps to book a ticket accordingly.

The airline's tagline is "Fly Smart", with the aim to offer smart facilities on board the aircraft. In case the passengers do not get an access to all the information on the website, there also is a toll free number that directly takes the passengers to the Go Air client support team, for accessing all the necessary information.

The staff as well as the onboard crew are well trained and consist of qualified professionals to assist the in-flight passengers and cater to their needs on board. You can avail the various special facilities if you plan to fly with Go Air to a destination of choice.
