Exhibition Stands – an ideal marketing solution for your firm Mary Porter

Article published on June 16th 2012 | Business

Many firms regularly attend trade shows and events in a bid to broadcast the message about their company and its products or services, and when travelling to such events having convenient exhibition stands is vital. There are plenty of different kinds of exhibition stands to choose from, but the most important consideration of all is that exhibition stands should be easy for one person to set up.

Many employees head to trade shows to act as a single ambassador for their firm, and to ensure they do not have to spend the first few hours of the day negotiating tricky exhibition stands, pop up exhibition stands could be ideal.

As well as this, the right exhibition stands should be eye catching and inviting to the thousands of potential customers who could be walking past during a trade show or exhibition, and buyers should keep this in mind when buying – dull exhibition stands are going to lead people straight to your competitor on the stand next door.

Here at Nine Dots we specialise in exhibition stands and our expert exhibition stands creators can work on any exhibition stands design, ensuring that all of our exhibition stands customers get the very best solution for their specific needs.

We approach every exhibition stands project on a bespoke basis and every exhibition stands job begins with a consultation and briefing which are both based on the requirements that our exhibition stands customers have set out to us. Following this, we create 3D visualisations of our exhibition stands ideas, and gather feedback at every stage, to ensure the final exhibition stands result is exactly what our client is searching for.

We know that space is an issue for a lot of our exhibition stands customers, and this is why we offer exhibition stands storage inbetween trade shows. As well as this, our exhibition stands customers can benefit from our great aftercare service, which includes painting, repair, cleaning and the reapplication of graphics which might have worn off.

If you are looking for new exhibition stands then visit us here at Nine Dot and talk to our exhibition stands about your needs.
