Family Law: the Role of Divorce and Adoption Attorneys by Guy Chambliss

Article published on May 3rd 2012 | Business

Known as the basic unit of society, a family plays a major role in an individual's growth and development. Whether you will become a productive citizen or a nuisance in your community is greatly affected by your family background. Families serve as the backbone of communities and affect a society's stability. This is why a set of laws have been established to protect the family and address family-related legal issues.

Family law is mainly concerned with cases involving child support, domestic violence, adoption, paternity, divorce, and spousal support. In Utah, there are law firms that specialize in family law. Two types of attorney are more commonly involved in trials regarding family issues – the divorce and adoption attorneys.

Divorce Attorneys

When two people get married, they are legally bound by law to each other. Upon deciding to get a divorce, though, they are still bound within the divorce law of the Utah state courts. According to statistics, within the first five years of marriage, 50 percent of the couples in Utah get divorced. Within the first 10 years of marriage, the percentage of divorce rises to 70 percent.

Although you aren't required to hire an attorney, having a divorce lawyer by your side can make the stressful and complicated process of filing for a divorce much easier. A divorce attorney Utah clients can rely on are those with extensive knowledge on child custody, child support, alimony, and division of assets and liabilities. Divorce attorneys make sure that you file the correct papers and that the entire process of divorcing your spouse goes smoothly.

Adoption Attorneys

Having a child or children is part of starting and making your own family. However, there are instances when child bearing is impossible for some couples, thereby making adoption a practical choice. Adopting a child to become part of your family would often require the assistance of an adoption attorney. An adoption attorney Utah couples prefer are those who have enough skill to speed up the process and manage the necessary paperwork.

An adoption attorney Utah law firms hire and recommend can handle adoptions through an agency, international adoptions, and domestic adoptions. Your attorney must understand the Utah adoption laws and be able to draft an adoption petition that is clear and accurate to avoid future problems with the adoption's legitimacy. Your adoption attorney will be with you during adoption hearings and guide you through the entire proceeding.
