How to find a residential contractor in Orlando and Florida by Daniel Painting Service

Article published on May 25th 2012 | Business

There are hundreds of painting contractors in Orlando and throughout Florida who can help give your home a new look. Whether you're looking for interior or exterior work, a professional painting contractor can help you achieve great results.

If you live in Florida, it naturally makes sense to use a residential painting contractor nearby. But why bother hiring a professional contractor at all? Wouldn't it be just as easy to do the job yourself?

Painting a room or the outside of your house may sound simple, but there's more to it than just picking up a brush. If you're painting the house's exterior, for example, you'll need to make sure the whole area is properly cleaned to remove mildew and old paint, which can prevent new paint from staying put.

Besides cleaning the walls, any cracks will need to be filled in so the surface is structurally sound and able to take the paint. These jobs take time, patience, and more often than not, specific tools to achieve lasting results.

If you live in Florida, there's also the weather to think about. Heat and humidity, as well as scorching sun, can damage paint and lead to peeling and blistering. Peeling is caused by painting on a surface that isn't properly dry, while blistering is the result of the opposite problem – painting on surfaces that are too hot from the sun.

A professional painting contractor, particularly one based in Florida, will understand this climate and know when to tackle each stage of the painting process. Since mistakes can only be corrected by sanding the surface and going back to square one, getting it wrong can be expensive, so it's worth hiring someone who knows what they're doing to make sure your house looks as good as possible.

So how do you find a painting contractor? Well, recommendations from family and friends are a good start as they can vouch for the quality of your painter. Otherwise, the internet is a simple way of searching different painting services and it's easy to compare different companies based on the information on their websites.

When you've chosen your contractor, make sure you get a detailed quote and a labour warranty. A labour warranty is the length of time a contractor is responsible for the job he has done, so can be a good indication of what quality the job will be.
