From the beginning Real Estate market was the prime focus for the investors, but with the globalization the opportunities increased much. Year 2012 commenced with ample of opportunities for the Investors. Every common man dream for home, and Real Estate Investors transform this dream to real. For the reason, approx all the industries are directly or indirectly related to the Real Estate Market. The slight changes in Real Estate market reflect changes in the economy of the country.

If broadly categorize there are 2 parties – Property Sellers and Property Buyers, but many mediocre work to make the deal complete they are known as Property agents. Property agents can be considered as individual social marketing agents, they either work as hired agents or as freelancers. The main job of the real estate brokers is to behave as a mediator between the seller as well as purchaser of the house. They buy houses to the sellers and then sell these houses towards interested purchasers in varying costs. They target for Property Buyers and show them available Investor’s properties, help them to close the deal by giving them finest option based on their requirements, budget, location choice, size and so on factors. Their role can’t be over passed.

Factors which made Property agent’s role so important:

With changing family structure to Nuclear family, the demand of properties increased and people started seeking advice of these real estate agents.

Relocation is another factor for this, relocation itself has several reasons, may be due to better living opportunities, Job transfer, for higher education, for better and healthy environment and so on, and made the Real Estate Agents advice more valuable. As people are not aware of the location, resources, prices

One of the important factor is these agents are local and they are very well versed with the locality, its environment, its good and bad and everything, so their advice becomes more valuable for any buyer who is a stranger to the particular place. Most of the real estate agents help their customers to complete the Bank legal formalities, and so they are also a bridge between financial institutes and the customers. They provide every information to their buyer/ customer about how to get easy loans, which Banks to contact, what the different schemes are provided by the Banks, Ways to adjust their loan liabilities based on their budget. They’re frequently free to homebuyers. Sellers normally pay the commission to their listing realtor. The significant factor to buyers is the fact that the agent is out inside the field helping clients every day.

Trust is the basic foundation of this industry, most of the deals accomplish on it before any kind of formal documentation. Quick decision making, good understanding, positive approach, great follow-ups, minute observation can be listed in any of the agent. Beside that they are excellent marketers, excellent orator and listener, great convincer. As this is field is becoming more competitive, the Real Estate agents are updating their knowledge and skills by undergoing Real Estate Broker Training Exam from time to time.
