

Article Side

Setup a Directory Website with DirectoryPress by John Zadel

Article published on June 27th 2012 | Business

If you have ever considered starting up a directory internet site you need not look any further than DirectoryPress. DirectoryPress is a directory template for Wp that has the ability to turn any typical WordPress website into a full blown directory site inside a matter of minutes. The script itself is a premium directory template. Premium WordPress plugins are plugins that are generally designed and geared towards the professional marketplace. These types of plugins are generally built to a higher standard to that of the WP plugins one can conceivably find on the internet for free.

And while the free-of-charge templates might have a few uses, and may even satisfy many a user, they will not be suitable for the most demanding of clients: the type of users that pride themselves on building an unequivocally proficient presence on the internet. And for all those customers who are searching for a directory website that meets that type of standard, DirectoryPress may well be something they will want to take a more in-depth look into.

Among the wide range of usable features which I'll go over partially during this short article, its most engaging feature must be its ease-of-use. I mean, you needn't be a computer programmer or web-designer to work with DirectoryPress. Actually, an utter computer newbie will be able to get the script working in next to no time at all. No convoluted coding, no programming, just a few tweaks in the WordPress back-end and you'll be good to go!

One other huge feature resides in the fact that you are able to setup an infinite number of websites. And if you've been searching around on the net, you will have found that many of the WP premium directory plugin products do not permit this. Commonly, one would have to shell out a fee for that one license which equals a single installation. This isn't the case using DirectoryPress. The license is an unlimited one which means it is possible to create a limitless quantity of sites for a vast quantity of clients or anyone.

The script is also SEO friendly and has been optimized to perform healthily in the search engines. Clear-cut, but extremely important, things like the script's correct usage of HTML formatting, alt-tags, no follow linking options, and light formatting throughout ensures that the customer will get a great performing search-engine optimized internet site straight out of the box. And Search engine optimization, for all those which do not already know, is going to be absolutely essential in your quest for success net.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/setup-a-directory-website-with-directorypress.htm> - Article Side

John Zadel - About Author:

If you need to get to know more about ways to make money on the web using a premium WordPress directory script please do feel free to browse a further writing that I've written, the url to which can be found below. Furthermore, you'll also discover info on how to get a discount on a DirectoryPress too! Thank you for reading this article.

Article Keywords:

directorypress, wordpress directory website, wordpress directory plugin, wordpress directory script, wordpress

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!