Sports Autographs - a prized possession by Sports Memorabilias

Article published on January 6th 2012 | Business

Sports have always managed to get the attention of people of all ages. Be it playing the game or watching the sport professionally, sports have always been a medium of bringing out the competitive spirit in everyone. Getting a sports stars autograph is something that has always been a matter of thrill for a lot of fans. In simple words it's a true delight for every fan to get an autograph from a celebrity then be it an athlete or a movie star.

Getting an autograph from an athlete definitely is not as easy as it sounds. However, one needs to be patient and follow certain rules so that one can win the prized autograph. It's important to understand and know that screaming and yelling to get your favorite athlete's attention will definitely not help. One should always be polite and respectful to the athletes. Unnecessary screaming and shouting will only fetch only ignorance and nothing else. One should also make sure to see that they don't treat the other athletes with disrespect and not be selective in taking autographs.

The most important thing about autographs is that it is taken with the right and proper pen and on a proper surface. It is important to understand that permanent markers would not work very well on footballs. Therefore it is important to know and understand that the choice of material on which the autograph is going to be taken is important and so is the writing instrument. There is no point in getting autographs which are smudged and not proper. Another good way of getting an autograph from one's favorite athlete is trying to go to the practice arena and meet the star athlete and take an autograph. Getting a place in the dugout area is another great opportunity for fans to catch up with the sport stars and get autographs from them.

Sports autographs are a thrill for any diehard sports fan; however, one needs to understand that a proper and an undamaged autograph will always fetch more money. The object on which the autograph has been taken also matters equally. Autographed memorabilia is also available in these stores but one can't be sure if it's original or forged. One must make sure to see that the autograph taken with a proper writing instrument else the value of it will not be as good. For example, an autograph taken with a ball point pen on a picture will be of more value than the one taken with a pencil. Autographs taken in ink and sharpies are always of more value than pencil.

Getting autographs on apparel is also a trend but then one must and should make sure that the pen or the marker does not smudge on the surface as this will diminish the value of the autograph to a great extent. For a true fan, getting the close glimpse of their favorite star athlete and getting an autograph is like a dream that they would cherish for life
