Tips for Crack an Interview by Keshav Dussal

Article published on April 11th 2012 | Career

Facing the interview board is one of the fearful thought in the mind of candidate. One should prepare well to face the interview board. Here are some tips to crack the interview. Prepare for some common questions asked in the interview.

Some common questions asked in the interview are tell something about you, why do you want to work with this company, etc. Study about the company before going to interview. Know its mission, vision, customer's competitors, products, etc. Frame your answers in relation to company's requirements.

Your dressing sense creates a first impression in the mind of the interviewer. They can easily identify whether the candidate is suitable for job from their dressing style. Professional attire helps to create positive impression in the mind of employer.

Be on time for interview. Punctuality is very crucial for interview. Late candidates are not entertained by companies and you may lose job offer. Don't answer if you don't know the correct answer. Study some questions asked in previous interview to get clear idea about what type of questions can be asked in the interview. Describe your strengths and weakness is one of the common questions asked in interview. Don't emphasize your weaknesses in a negative way. Frame it in very effective way that it shouldn't seem like a serious weakness. Mention what you are doing to overcome your weakness. This shows that you are concerned for your personal development.

Some candidates are over smart and try some extra ordinary things to impress the interviewer. Be aware this may create a negative impact. Be natural and polite in your answers; even if you don't know the answers simply say don't know. It's not compulsory that you should answer every question to get selected. Sometimes question are asked just to test your patience and the way you tackle things you don't know.

Once the interview process is over don't sit idle. Inquire when can you call back to confirm the job offer or just ask what should I do next. Check out the result date at the counter of the company. If you fail to receive a call or feedback from the company, contact them and clarify your doubts. May be the result dates have been postponed or you might have been rejected. Check out job status of the company you applied last. This will help to plan for next interview or search job in different company.
