ã€ã€If you happen to not like "Diablo 3", we will bring you a few reasons to surprise you; I believe they would change your view of "Diablo 3".

ã€ã€Can you believe it, Diablo God, which players waiting for more than a decade finally comes? In the last ten years large number of loyal fans cannot sleep every night, only waiting for the Diablo 3â€™s return and return to the battlefield to kill the enemy courageously.

ã€ã€In the auction house, a big fight ã€ã€Now many games have tried to integrate the virtual economy and real economic, often in exchange for a large group of players in dissatisfied. But if there is a gamer does matter successfully, it is definitely like to use the "greed is good" feeling, while Blizzard did.

ã€ã€Players can buy equipment with cash in-game auction house, if you really do not want to spend real money; you can still trading by game gold.

ã€ã€Now, it is certain that the auction will bring huge benefits for the game, but also bring a number of risks, after all, to collect taxes from cash transactions have a little similar feeling to take money from the othersâ€™ vault directly.

ã€ã€The cancellation of geographical restrictions of the Battke.net ã€ã€There is a significant small change in this game: the abolition of the geographical constraints of battle net. Prior to this, the battle net is divided into several regions, such as the U.S. East Coast players can only play the U.S. - of East server, but cannot to the west, and so on. Today, everything will be merged; you will never have to trouble with selecting the server.

ã€ã€This small seemingly momentum will be playing big different; compared to the second generation you can truly sharing the joy with global players now and to make different friends, to break the geographical restrictions, and enrich "digital life".

ã€ã€PvP mode is confirmed the arrival ã€ã€Blizzard confirm a complete PvP system will be designed. Networking players feel they were brushing equipment together, but now with the latest 3D design, PvP mode will be a huge attraction.

ã€ã€PvP will be taken in the well-designed arena which can equip all weapons props that you collected in a single mode. This mode is quite stimulating, 4v4 deathmatch mode would to the last second, but Blizzard also said they are considering joining the 1v1 mode.

ã€ã€The new system mechanism ã€ã€From the core in terms of the game, "Diablo 3" will be completely different from the "Diablo II" and the greatest manifestation is that you no longer need to carry a full backpack agents. Thanks to some new mechanism, your HP can be gained through picking up the red ball. The witch doctor can only get the magic trough the old way, the Master draw energy with another "secret technique".

ã€ã€Achievement system

Whether you like it or hate it, the achievement system has so much attractive to the players, allowing the player to increase their play time, or challenge difficulty rating one by one to award medals. Such as World of Warcraft's achievements mode, allowing the player pursue their own limits many times.

Diablo 3's achievement system will be able to unlock some special design, such as when ever see you, they will know that you spend 66.6 seconds to kill a large pineapple (this achievement is purely fictitious). And challenges new achievements give us a greater sense of satisfaction.

Little game can make players wait so long, there are even fewer games make them think it is worth to wait for so long. Blizzard did it.
