Enjoying a Mediterranean Paradise with Balearic Islands by James Purefoy

Article published on June 27th 2012 | Destinations

The Balearic Islands are known as the Mediterranean paradise in this part of the world with two clusters of islands; the Gimnesias which comprises Cabrera, Mallorca and Menorca and the Pitiusas which comprises Ibiza and Formentera.

The Gimnesias cluster of islands is on the north while the Pitiusas cluster is found at the southwestern part.

Rich offering

One of the greatest attractions from the Balearic Islands is the excellent consistent climate of sunshine throughout most times of the year with delightfully beautiful beaches and historical sights. There is a rich culture and tradition offering with an exceptional local hospitality that makes the Balearic Islands a preferred vacation destination anytime. Millions of tourists come through the Palma de Mallorca airport annually for some adventure and fun in the sun.

Tourists to the Balearic Islands would not hesitate to come back for more as there are many islands to explore; each island has its own special offerings. Many tourists have enjoyed Balearic Islands so much that many have considered it a second home with a holiday villa tucked away on one of the islands.

Beach offering

There are plenty of beaches to choose from on Balearic Islands; every island in the Balearic Islands cluster offers beautiful virgin beaches that would delight any tourist looking for fun in the sun.

The beaches are clean with many sporting the coveted Blue Flag awards for quality on facilities and amenities. There is a plethora of hotels and rental accommodation to fit the tourists' budget on the Balearic Islands. The accommodation is clean and comfortable as well as close to the beaches.

There are many water sports which one can enjoy in the warm crystal clear waters of the Mediterranean. Most tourists take on to the scuba diving, jets skiing and deep sea fishing as well as island hopping. The young and old like the catamaran rides which allow them to view the rich marine life in the waters through a glass bottom boat.

Beach Amenities

There are plenty of sun beds or loungers on the beach for the tourists' comfort. These are also available by the hotels which are located right on the beachside. There are also plenty of shops which sell or rent beach water sports equipment like scuba diving gear, fishing, jets skiing and swimwear.

Bicycles are also available for rental; cycling along the beach or to town is a popular choice of activity among the tourists who want something different and relaxing.
