There are many types of Andalusia tour offers for those who are keen to get a feel of Andalusia. The myriad of tour agencies with the equally limitless Andalusia tour packages may seem daunting for the traveler to decide on the best Andalusia tour.

There is so much to see, feel, appreciate and delight in Andalusia. However, one of two tours may give the travelers a better perspective.

Andalusia Villa Tour

An Andalusia villa tour takes about 6-7 days taking the traveler through major cities in the region. Tourists would be lodged in a comfortable villa which functions as a base accommodation while traveling to different cities each day.

Antequera would be the first city stop to check out the ancient historical monuments in Andalusia. Guests would check out Malaga which is only 45 minutes away to view more historical monuments of the region. These villa tours do not subject tourists to long hours of ride from place to place as the places of interests lined up are nearby. There is given sufficient time to pore over the beauty and absorb the history of each town in this tour option.

Full board and lodging are included in a villa tour on Andalusia with cultural sightseeing and dinners that include flamenco performances. Tourists would also enjoy Granada for a grand viewing of the impressive and famous Alhambra as well as the ancient quarters.

Andalusia Premium Tour

Another great way to enjoy Andalusia is the Premium tour where luxury accommodation is provided. Tourists get to enjoy the comfort and beauty of 4-star and 5-star hotels in every city on this tour which takes about 6-7 days.

Guests on this tour are chauffeur driven around; similar Andalusia towns and cities as the villa tours are visited. New hotel stays are arranged at the different towns and cities to allow the guests to enjoy a different accommodation in a different environment.

Premium tour itineraries can be modified or customized depending on the guests' requirements. There are additional options which can be included into the Premium tour such as an extra day or night for more of Andalusia.

One might choose to spend the night in a traditional Spanish villa in the countryside or beach. There, guests would be treated like kings and queens with a sumptuous dinner and breakfast. Local delicacies can be arranged to tempt the palate. More time can be arranged to check out the local fertile olive groves or bodegas which are famous wine cellars in Spain. The local brewery produces fantastic local wine.
