Bible scripture interpreted in the a simple manner for kids by Henry Fuol

Article published on June 22nd 2012 | Education

Kids learn very fast things and learn whatever they are exposed to. If the kids are exposed to the good things like good food habit and truthful and kind environment then theyâ€™ll learn exactly that. Otherwise, if exposed to an environment of criticism or worst still violence; theyâ€™ll have pent up frustration, will learn aggression or become recluse.

For the healthy development of a personality a child should be exposed to nature, should be taught kindness towards other human beings as well as innocent animals and plants. They should be taught to do their own regular work by themselves so that they grow up to become an independent and a confident person.

Kids learn by experiments and by following the adults. There is also another aspect of kidsâ€™ learning. They have to be engaged and entertained through the teachings, if the lesson or the message does not interest them theyâ€™ll not learn it. On the other hand if even the toughest of lessons is presented to them in a fun and animated way, they can learn and internalize even the toughest of the teachings.

But it is not an easy task to simplify tough subjects like evangelism and Gospel Tracts and present those in an entertaining manner to the kids.

The organization called the Memory Cross, run by Rev. Andy Lambert, Mike Vitamvas and Rev. Bill Gibson; does exactly that. The organization conducts Sunday School Activities and the Sunday School Crafts designed to teach the gospels to the children through crafts and other interesting activities that the children love to do.

Memory Cross has designed and developed coloring cards for the children to use. These are designed to assist the kids to learn Bible stories from both the Old as well as the New Testaments. The stories from the scripture that are very popular among the kids are the Noah, Moses, Roman Road, Creation stories and also the blank cards.

Chanting Prayers have an extremely calming effect on the body. There is no better way to experience Scripture than to memorize Scripture and enchant them. Prayer strengthens the forces in life. With the enhanced power to concentrate ones power of observation becomes sharper and steadily his outlook and attitude towards life is changed.

Memorizing Bible scriptures have various benefits in the following ways: make quick and wise decisions, defend temptation and reduce stress as well as build positive attitude and build confidence. A follower worthy of the name would always like to and attempt to share faith and good advice.

Imagine the potential and power of imbibing these Godâ€™s gifts into a childâ€™s life early in life. Can there be any better gift for any child?

Memory Cross helps kids to learn and memorize the Scripture by making it fun and convenient to learn. By simply breaking a verse into four parts makes it a lot easier for the kids to learn.

Gospel Tracts are designed in a creative manner by Memory Cross that encourages people to share Godâ€™s unblemished love. Even the most uninterested and the people new to the concepts gets excited about the manner the unique cards have been prepared. One can carry these cards conveniently anywhere home as well as outside the country.
