With the AIEEE 2012 dates announced, students would have started getting ready for the country's biggest entrance examination. within the coming back year, CBSE has selected twenty two cities to conduct the AIEEE on-line. The cities that are chosen for on-line format won't have the normal paper pencil format. this implies that if you are from anybody of those cities then you may need to compulsorily take the exam within the on-line format.

AIEEE 2012 on-line exam are conducted over a window of many weeks from might seven, 2012 to might twenty five, 2012. the opposite locations in India can still conduct the examination within the ancient paper pencil format on one day - April twenty nine, 2012.

Usually students who need to take the net exam are a jittery ton. They concern technical snags and expect that taking the examination on-line would scale back their probabilities of fairing well. allow us to examine some small print students ought to keep in mind whereas taking the AIEEE examination in 2012 within the on-line format:-

Have a positive mindset: 1st, convince yourself before the examination that there's no elementary distinction between the paper-pencil format and also the on-line format. The medium is different; the content are an equivalent. Have religion in yourself that you just are able to crack the exam regardless of what format you are taking the exam in.

Familiarise yourself: Students ought to familiarise themselves with the net format before they really take the exam. there'll be a apply possibility out there on the official website of AIEEE. apart from that, students ought to additionally enrol for an honest on-line apply model exam series for apply.

Have no fear: When the pilot for on-line format of AIEEE was conducted in 2011, there have been no technical snags that were reported from the take a look at centres. thus candidates mustn't give up to any fears of system malfunctioning, take a look at screens not moving forward / backward etc. and may fully specialise in the content of the examination.

Need for versatility: Candidates will return to an issue marked for solving towards the tip of the exam window. within the paper pencil format, the scholars are able to quickly begin from where they left off. an equivalent versatility ought to be developed for the queries on the screen additionally. it might be gross misuse of the exam-time if you were to start out once more. The screen adaptation of 'mid-way interventions' has to be practised many times over.

Work on speed: it's necessary to apply as several AIEEE papers within the on-line format so you'll be able to work on your speed and accuracy.
