The Importance of Video Marketing for All Businesses Today by Casey Navarro

Article published on April 28th 2012 | Email Marketing

For a number of years now, to get your website recognized by the search engines, and ranked for specific keywords in the search engine results, online marketers have had to optimize their websites for SEO (Search Engine Optimization) to achieve these results. This is still very true, but the SEO game is forever changing, and new methods, techniques and strategies are always being put in place to keep up with the constant change. Google being the main search engine, is the one we all like to tackle, as it gets the most traffic. To receive traffic from Google, we need to appear in the search engine results for keywords related to our company or business, so SEO services are needed, to help us achieve the results we want. The main issue is, we aren't all SEO experts, how can we optimize our sites for SEO when we don't understand it ourselves? Or maybe you do understand it, but you don't have the time to optimize your site, what can you do to solve this problem?

One area of the SEO game this is still quite fresh is Video Marketing. Video Marketing is a very effective way to get traffic to your site, and to showcase your business in a quick yet professional manner. You can create sixty second long videos and submit them to various video submission sites, this will get you traffic in two ways. The first way will be the videos themselves will get traffic, and the second is the links that are created from the videos will help optimize your site for SEO purposes, allowing your website to climb higher in the search engine results. Videos typically rank higher than articles and even websites, which makes them a powerful marketing tool to utilize.

How many times have you searched for something in Google and a video shows up in the results? It happens all the time, yet for a lot of offline business' it seems they aren't really taking advantage of this to advertise themselves. This leaves a huge gap in marketing for people to use a Video Marketing Service to boost their rankings, and take this gap in the market by the horns. Let's face it, we aren't all the best at creating videos, nor are we the best at marketing anything online, when it comes to your business getting it's name out there, it's always a good choice to let the professionals take over and do the job effectively for you. Video Marketing can be very powerful, and it's essential that you use it properly, otherwise you may not get the full benefit from it.

One Video Marketing service that provides both video creation and video submission for business' is WL Marketing.
