If you have rabbits or guinea pigs then to provide them shelter to ensure their safety and protection should be your first priority. Some people keep them in open in their farm but it is not at all safety to keep them there. So just bring guinea pig hutches even before you bring your little friends at home. But before you going to purchase just make sure that are enough knowledgeable to purchase it. Read the article below and keep some points in your mind.

First thing to ensure is the design of guinea pig hutches. Generally wood and other solid materials are used to construct it. It makes it sturdy and provide protection from rain and strong winds. The main purpose why we keep pigs or rabbits in cage is to protect them from predators and other weather conditions. Its wall should be enough strong to keep predators and other harmful animals like rat away. Another advantage of strong and thick wall is that it will keep the cage warm. So always choose hutches that are made up of strong plywood and other material.

Another thing to consider while choosing hutch is the floor of it. The floor of hutch should not be designed in such a way in which the delicate legs of pigs and rabbits get trapped. So avoid choosing the hutch that has mesh floor. But if you have it then there is a solution to this problem that is you can cover floor with some newspaper or with some bed sheets or hay also. After floor, next thing is roof. After choose roof from which water can easily flow outside. If you choose straight roof then water will get collected on it and leads to damage the hutch. You can use hay on the roof also.
