How to Choose a Double Stroller: the Parents Guide by Lexoremman

Article published on January 6th 2012 | Family

Whether you may have learned that you're having twins or triplets or maybe if you own an older child currently and you are pondering how you are likely to get by, the double stroller is certainly the answer to parent's concerns!

In this article, we'll analyze some of the more popular configurations for double strollers along with the advantages and disadvantages of each as well as supplying you with a little detail on how to generate sense of double stroller reviews and find the most effective double stroller for your family.

Side-By-Side Strollers

Side by side strollers are definitely the best-known kind of tandem strollers and they have already been around for the longest. They're obtainable in an array of designs like the highly regarded modern jogging options. On the contrary, while parents recognize that side-by-side strollers for twins, triplets or even two or three children are quite handy and simple to use, they likewise possess a few downsides.

The first is whenever there is a sizable weight variance between your children (newborn and toddler for instance) you could find that the stroller is likely to "pull" to one side. Side by side strollers are likewise often bulkier as soon as folded however several are almost as simple as a typical stroller to fold up.

Tandem Strollers

Tandem strollers are considered the next typical type of double strollers out there. In this configuration instead of being alongside one another, your kids sit in stroller seats which are positioned behind each other.

The benefit of this kind of double stroller is that they are actually less wide and simpler to maneuver through tight spaces. However, they can be also more difficult to collapse and even though they're excellent when you have one inquisitive child who would rather sit in front with a younger kid or newborn napping at the back, you might find that with twins as they get older there exists rivalry for that "best seat" in the house!?

Double Jogging Strollers

Double jogging strollers are one of the newer items on the market for families. They are robust and durable like typical jogging strollers and they usually are available in either side-by-side or tandem style (however side by side is way more common).

These are generally a great choice when you have a proactive family and you wish to be able to bring your twins, triplets, or small kids together on outings.

Double Umbrella Strollers

Many parents of multiples or those who decide on double strollers for some other reasons (generally because they have a toddler and a newborn) find that buying double umbrella strollers also known as compact double strollers and a more conventional double stroller is a good idea.

That is because double umbrella strollers as opposed to other kinds of double stroller collapse amazingly compact and can be put in the trunk of practically any size vehicle that makes them perfect for travelling!

Regardless which style of double strollers you select, keep in mind there is actually no such thing as the most effective double strollers - there are merely double strollers that best provide what you need. Therefore do your homework, examine as many double stroller evaluations as possible and "test drive" some before you buy as this will assure you that the actual double strollers you choose are the best double strollers for your situation.
