make decisions faster and with greater accuracy. Rather than automatic software that has full control over the city Forex

Trade Duplicator, this tool simply generates buy and sell signals, and leaves the trader with the flexibility of a 100% to make money from signals.

This software uses advanced artificial intelligence technology that allows you to analyze the markets using the rules and formulas established by their human traders who programmed it. Over the previous years of tests and real account trading and viva, has generated a long period of 81.2% win rate, and its biggest number of winning trades straight currently 1,058.

Recently, there have been many automated Forex Copier software being released that all claim to be able to make money for you while you sit and do nothing, having tested most of them.

There have been cases when automatic software I was using has become unstable and begin to make irregular transactions. Of course, some people may still prefer the automated trading robots, but personally I prefer signals generating trading software manually.
