Many individuals even today are unknown regarding the cure for vitiligo. They just feel ashamed to consult a dermatologist regarding the de-pigmentation of skin as a matter of which it gradually covers up the whole body. With the advanced medical technology the cure for vitiligo has provided patients with a ray of hope to live their life in a normal manner. Completely painless this skin disorder can fully be cured under the guidance of expert doctors using various treatments for gaining back the original skin color.

Vitiligo is an autoimmune disease which occurs when a person's immune system reacts against the body's own organs or tissues. Some known causes of vitiligo are cut, burn or ulcer, inappropriate food combinations, improper hygiene, regular junk food intake, intake of pesticide treated green vegetable, past jaundice or typhoid fever, harsh antibiotics and sudden emotional trauma or stress.

However there are several cures for this disease available today but for patients suffering from this de-pigmentation since a long time surgical therapies are the safest and best known. The different surgical therapies require an in-depth study related to the severity of the disorder and patient's health condition. The antilogous skin graft therapy requires removing of the skin from one area of the body and attaching it to the other area which is affected. Another therapy for curing this disorder involves the creation of blisters on the pigmented skin using heat suction or freezing cold. Then the tops of the blisters are cut out and transplanted to the de-pigmented skin area thus resulting in formation of the original skin color.

There are many different cures available for this disorder which is based on the patient's belief and reaction to the specific treatment. It is always better to consult an expert rather than form our own opinions regarding the treatment method..
