Dr. Hauschka Makeup and Skin Care- Organic and Homemade Solutions by James Blee

Article published on December 21st 2011 | Health

Makeup and skin care products are available in plenty in the cosmetic industry. However, a lot of cosmetics are actually dangerous in terms of the hazards their contents bring and the long term side effects. This is why it is important to pick and choose wisely. Dr. hauschka makeup products are an excellent example of how organic solutions developed with care for your skin, are the ideal choice. There is a complete line of makeup products, all with organic credentials. These include mascara, lipstick, lip gloss, eye liner, lip liner and a range of other products. The biggest advantage of these products, their individual effectiveness apart is that they are organic. This ensures that you donâ€™t have to worry about any kind of damage to your skin, upon using these products over a longer period of time.

Biodynamic and organic ingredients, combined with pure minerals, which are certified as natural by BDIH are used for the manufacture of dr. hauschka skin care products. In fact, many of these products have won awards at numerous events due to their effectiveness at keeping the skin glowing and charming, without resorting to any hazardous chemicals.

Another important thing to understand is that the brand is a pioneer as far as green industry is concerned. Long before the â€™greenâ€™ and â€™organicâ€™ became buzz words, the brand had its pre which means that the aim was to really give clients something effective and safe rather than sell them something that could be hazardous in the long term, for sheer profits. There is no use of dangerous pesticides or synthetics and these products are a result of biodynamic farming which uses living organisms and the soil itself to nurture the raw material required to manufacture these make up and skin care products that so many customers have accepted with open arms.
