

Article Side

Substituting Pearly Whites: Dentures for Individuals with Missing Teeth by Eddie Storms

Article published on February 24th 2012 | Health

Out of curiosity, children usually ask their grandparents why they use dentures. Generally speaking, dentures are removable false teeth. These are made from acrylic resin and combined with porcelain for additional support. These dentures are made by cosmetic dentists and are custom-made to fit the person's mouth. Even if the dentures are full or partial, the same mold needs to be made to ensure that the patient does not feel any discomfort.

Dentures are suitable for people who would like to have better looking teeth but do not wish to undergo intrusive procedures. If you find dentures unappealing, then dental implants are better choices. People choose dentures over dental implants since they are relatively cheaper. Another thing is that dental implants are practically painless. With a little dose of getting used to, you can easily forget you shed some teeth.

There are cases when a dentist needs to remove teeth to offer space for dentures. Dentures aren't just teeth that are positioned in the gaps between other teeth. Dentures include palettes plus some metals which require to be mounted to other sections of the oral cavity. In such cases, there are some teeth that prevent the dentures from being placed easily, making tooth extraction required.

There are a couple of types of dentures. Complete dentures replace both lower and upper teeth. They protect practically the mouth's surface area. Upper dentures care for the ones located on the mouth's top part. Over dentures are almost like complete dentures, only that their purpose is different. They were primarily made to strengthen gnawing. For patients with missing teeth on only one part of their mouths, Atlanta dentists recommend partial dentures.

People think that preserving dentures is a costly affair. In reality, fees generally depend on the kind of dentures which will be used. You can talk to your Atlanta dentist to obtain good deal or ask if insurance covers the treatment. One thing for sure is that dentures are very important for a person to bring back the function of their oral cavity. It may be costly, but the convenience and visual appeal are irreplaceable.

Visit an atlanta cosmetic dentist to find out more about dentures and the optimal way to handle them. Though they may be pricey investments, they can change your lifestyle for the better. With people's increasing awareness about oral health, dentures play a vital part in maintaining good oral health.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/health-articles/substituting-pearly-whites-dentures-for-individuals-with-missing-teeth.htm> - Article Side

Eddie Storms - About Author:

For more details, search a atlanta dentist, a atlanta dentists and a atlanta cosmetic dentist in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:

atlanta cosmetic dentist, atlanta dentist, atlanta dentists

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!