FUE stands for Follicular Unit Extraction and this is one of the modern methods of hair restoration following surgical method. This treatment can offer incredible cosmetic results as compared to older methods of hair transplantations. When this method is used for hair transplantation, people can experience lesser scars as compared to other methods. Generally, in any method of hair transplantation, some hair from the back of the head is removed and this area is known as donor area. In older methods, almost a complete strip of skin would be removed from the back of the head thereby leaving a big mark on the back of the head of the person undergoing hair transplantation. Above all, as days goes on these scars gets worsen thereby leaving a blemish on the back of the head. As a remedy to these problems with older methods, the method of FUE hair transplant was introduced.

FUE hair transplant Pakistan offers the best benefits like shorter healing time, shorter hair cuts are possible after the surgery, which is not possible in other methods of transplantations and scarring is almost invisible in this method. Under this method of transplantation, even people with little donor hair can be benefitted, which is not possible under other methods of transplantations. As compared to older methods in which a strip of skin is removed from the donor area, under FUE method only tiny follicular units of hair is removed from the donor area and transplanted directly into the scalp of the area in which hair re-growth is required. Even though under FUE method, there will be scars in the donor area, they will be of the size of a pin prick on the skin and the scar can be viewed only with the help of a magnifier glass.

Even though, FUE hair transplant Pakistan offers a wide range of benefits, it would be wise to check with a qualified surgeon before deciding to go for this method since only a professional surgeon can check the suitability of a person for this treatment. The professional will come to a decision after checking the amount and density of donor hair and the area of baldness that can be covered effectively with the amount of donor hair. It is possible for any person to go for hair transplant Lahore; however, the question that should be answered here is with respect to the coverage area in which hair re-growth is required. So, before going for Hair Transplant Lahore, consult the best professional to ensure your suitability for the treatment.
