

Article Side

Bamboo Hardwood Flooring is a Great Eco Friendly Option by Fred Lannister

Article published on February 23rd 2012 | Home Improvement

Floors can be a major portion of the beauty of a home. Flooring can create a color scheme in addition to shape what the area is used as, maybe a family area or an office. Nice floors should keep a home looking gorgeous, and may raise the reselling value if high quality products are utilized. For reasons of cost and quality, bamboo floors are an incredible improvement to your house or condominium.

Wood flooring is desirable in several locations, due to carpet being high upkeep along with cleaning, and carpets very easily holding to dust and odors. Not to mention, lugging out the vacuum can often be difficult on a regular basis. To save some of the headache from the upkeep of carpet, other strategies to floor coverings might be a better choice.

Bamboo hardwood flooring is very similar to hardwood floors in the look along with installation. Floors made of bamboo come in a number of shades, from light brown to a deep mahogany, and may have a smooth or textured look, like other brand names of wood. Bamboo wood can also be attached to floors in a variety of variations, making a stunning pattern over the floors of your home.

One of the many reasons why home owners select bamboo with regard to their residences flooring, is due to the green material of bamboo. Bamboo helps save trees from getting chopped down, and is easier to harvest and grow compared to trees. Bamboo also produces more oxygen as compared to trees, and propagates quicker, unlike tree forest, which take many years to grow following getting removed.

Bamboo floors may be ordered from home retail shops, a lot like wood, carpet, and tile, and may be self set up or perhaps done by a home improvement specialist. Floors manufactured from bamboo has a fast and simple install, and based on the houses square footage could be completely done in a matter of days.

Among the best ways to find bamboo home flooring would be to take a trip to your home improvement store which offers the particular floors and get an understanding of the surface, the upkeep, and quality of the available flooring. Flooring is usually bought by square foot, so being attentive to the homes square footage, and converting this straight into expense for flooring is pertinent to data as well.

The maintenance and cleaning of bamboo flooring is typically less difficult compared to carpet and is very like additional woods. Strand woven bamboo is known to be harder than wood, making the surface more scratch and ding proof. Floors made from bamboo can be cleaned using non harsh cleaners, which includes white vinegar, which is highly affordable and might be found in any grocery store.

Homes should take extra note to choose flooring that will hold up well to every day wear and tear and householders must make sure to select flooring that suits the entire theme of the home, and plays a part in the beauty of the house, as well as the resale value.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/bamboo-hardwood-flooring-is-a-great-eco-friendly-option.htm> - Article Side

Fred Lannister - About Author:

As flooring is one of the most used aspects of your home, do you have the quality of green a strand woven bamboo flooring? As a bamboo hardwood flooring is often harder then wood you can rest assured your bamboo floors will last.

Article Keywords:

bamboo hardwood flooring, strand woven bamboo

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!