Create Perfect Showpieces for Your Home with Custom Cabinetry by Tomcalvert

Article published on December 5th 2011 | Home Improvement

Custom cabinetry isn't just a skill, it's an art. Cabinets are used for everything; display cases, counter tops and even showpieces. They are as stunning as chandeliers, provided they are done well and unlike a lot of class and ceramic pieces, they don't just add beauty, they add function too.

Custom cabinets are made from high grade wood and a variety of beautiful finishes can be applied, ensuring that they look just as good, if not better, than the rest of the furniture in your home. Other than the fact they can be used to store items, they can also be used to add dimension or warmth to your home, ensuring that your guests find your kitchen just as beautiful as your living room.

One of the best places to get these custom-made cabinets is Millbrae Cabinet Shop, an institution in the art of custom cabinets and definitely a favorite among the community. The shop is headed by Kevin Helmig, owner as well as lead designer. He and his team ensure that it isn't just a cabinet you get, but a piece of furniture you will love to call a part of your home.

Choose from a variety of different cabinetry types that can include semi-custom as well as custom cabinets. Among the many cabinets that Millbrae provides are Huntwood cabinets, which are known for their durability and easily customizable modifications. They also offer Edgewater cabinets for those exquisite and extremely high quality wooden cabinets. Of course, if none of these classics interest you, you can still choose Karman cabinets, which provide the same excellent quality with a couple of newer designs.

Other than the beauty of a good cabinet as a showpiece, you will also find that a huge advantage to having beautiful, good quality cabinets is that they can add depth to your living space. If you have areas in your kitchen that are too visible from the living room perhaps, you don't need to buy a divider. Instead a good cabinet that has been made to blend with your furniture will suffice.

Cabinets are part of our lifestyle. They are created to blend in and work with our environment like no other object can because they provide form, function and durability. Make sure you don't forego the opportunity to make your house beautiful and functional. Choose only the most skilled makers of these beautifully crafted masterpieces by visiting millbraecabinetshop.com for all your custom cabinetry needs.
