The beauty of Stone Flooring by Angie Turner

Article published on June 19th 2012 | Home Improvement

Stone flooring is a very popular choice for both commercial and domestic properties. Although stone flooring is not the cheapest option it has many advantages over other flooring types and looks stunning once it is in place. You will often see stone flooring in kitchens, dining rooms, halls, entrance porches, and bathrooms and in commercial settings like spas, hotels, restaurants and other places. Limestone flooring is a popular choice because it suits most design styles and will easily match any existing décor. The other benefits of stone flooring are that it works well in most styles of property old and new.

There are lots of different types of limestone flooring available with different tile sizes and different colours and designs. When choosing Stone flooring you can select from limestone flooring, travertine, marble and granite. You will need to make sure you choose a type of tile that is suitable for its intended use and a stone flooring retailer will be able to offer you advice to help you select the right tiles. Marble tiles are polished and offer a shiny finish which works very well in bathrooms and to create a feeling of grandeur in entrance halls and in commercial premises that want to create luxurious settings for guests such as in hotels.

Natural stone flooring can vary in its colour so you should always buy all you need at once to ensure it all comes from the same batch. There are lots of cheap limestone tiles on the market but buy with caution as many cheap limestone tiles will not be good enough for high usage areas like halls and kitchens. Stone flooring looks clean, sophisticated and elegant and will provide a very strong and durable flooring solution for any home or business. Stone flooring is ideal to use with under floor heating and this is a popular choice in many modern homes. Stone flooring and limestone flooring comes in a range of natural shades like golds, browns, greys, creams and whites.
