In present days, it is no less challenge to look for cheap and discount kitchen cabinets in the market. One might put in a lot of effort and time to crack the best deal. One of the basic reasons as to why the kitchen cabinets are very expensive is because they have been controlled by huge retailers, manufacturers and installers. Many times, it happens that the furniture specialists recommend you that your kitchen budget can be allotted for your kitchen cabinets. There are numerous things which one should consider while choosing wholesale kitchen cabinets like how was it manufactured, the quality of drawers, the finishing and the kind of wood used. Here are four main kinds of kitchen cabinets which can be considered while buying them.

Semi Cabinets: These kinds of cabinets are generally found in furniture stores in various decorating styles. Generally you do not have to place an order for these cabinets as they can be bought on the spot from any well equipped furniture store. These kinds of cabinets are 34 ½ in height and 24 ½ in width. On other hand the upper or wall cabinets measure 30 in height and 12 in width. To increase your budget, you can also look out for seasonal sales and get discount kitchen cabinets. If you want to make a new, innovative and creative look, you can customize the cabinets and add a crown molding to it.

Semi-stock Cabinets: These kinds of cabinets are generally ordered from a home improvement or renovation store with the assistance of the kitchen designer. It can take generally weeks to get the actual cabinet, hence it is advised that you must check the schedule if it will meet the targeted date or not. The semi-stock cabinet is similar to stock cabinet with respect to the measurement except that you might request to increase 3 in width. You can even ask the kitchen designer and fit the semi-stock cabinets in any uneven space in the kitchen so that it complements the complete set of cabinets.

Custom Cabinets: Such kinds of cabinets can be crafted as per your preference of finishing and color. The merit of getting such custom made cabinet is that you can specify your requirements and preferences before ordering. Although it might take sufficient time to get your custom made cabinets in your kitchen, the resultant cabinets will have doors of glass or tin and body of solid wood.

Cabinets from thrift store: Numerous wonderful cabinets which have been donated by the builders can be purchased from such thrift stores. Such cabinets are excess pieces from the homes updating their homes or construction projects that donate in excellent shapes and high end items.

Wholesale kitchen cabinets do not have to look ugly and of cheap quality. If the research is done properly, it will result in creative and innovative selection of kitchen cabinets. Finally you will have an adorable kitchen with designer and economical kitchen cabinets.
