Whether they are beautiful red ruby or exotic green emeralds, both are simply perfect gems for rings. Both, ruby and emerald are precious gemstones and have their unique features and are remarkably beautiful. You may choose ruby rings for your wedding and engagement if you love the deep red color of the gem that looks magnificent when set in any of the popular metals like gold, white gold and even sterling silver. As rubies are getting popular most of the jewelers have now started offering creatively designed rings studded with beautiful rubies.

Rubies look perfect when set as single gem in the rings and you can also choose to buy ruby rings in which rubies are set with diamonds in various patterns. These rings are not just ornaments that you wear to look good but rubies say a lot about the person who buys them for you. Rubies are great option for wedding and engagement because these signify bonding of hearts and promise for eternal love and a never ending relationship.

If you are buying a ring for you then you have a variety of options among the gems that you can combine with rubies and metals in which you can set these gems. A simple and delicate ruby set in gold may speak about the gentle side of your personality while a ring studded with numerous gemstones in combination with rubies gives the freedom of expression of your own style. Just like rubies green emeralds are unconventional yet very beautiful choice for rings.

Emerald rings can be worn with any type of formal or casual outfits. It is a notion that emeralds look the most beautiful when set in Platinum but you are free to experiment and choose any other metal that may fall in your budget and may look good to you. Gold is definitely a traditional choice especially if it is to be presented as gift.

Emeralds are known as gem of Venus and these symbolize new life and love. So when you have made your mind to say "I do", say it with beautiful emerald rings. These have a kind of royal charm associated with them and these look stunning. Both Emerald and ruby rings can be bought in a set of Bride and groom rings. You can also buy beautiful engagement ring sets online in case you find it difficult to get good options with your jeweler.
