Sapphires in their natural form are gorgeously colorful yet elegant in appearance, and, therefore make a good choice for engagements. Besides being stylish, sapphire rings reflect a personal style statement. And, when the occasion is as special as an engagement, these colorful rings may be made more stunning when crafted with few dazzling diamonds.

Princess Diana's ring is a fine example of the royal combination of blue sapphires and diamonds. Though diamonds greatly accentuate a blue sapphire, these sparkling colorless gems add beautiful splendor and shine to sapphires of other colors too, like pink, yellow, white, purple and some fancy colors. A ring with pink sapphire and diamonds possesses a warm soft radiance, while yellow sapphires crafted with small diamonds give a bright sunshine glow. A combination of white sapphires and diamonds is unusual and hence is much appreciated when intricately designed with due importance given to the metal design as well. Diamonds along with purple sapphires are less used in comparison to other sapphire colors. For engagements, the color of sapphire must be her choice as it also needs to complement the color of her engagement dress.

When diamonds are set alongside a gemstone in the ring, it renders an ethereal beauty to it and therefore is preferred for sapphire engagement rings. The size of the diamonds in the ring are always kept smaller than the size of the sapphires, and also, its shape perfectly complements the sapphires, never overpowering the sapphires but effectively enhancing its appeal. The design of the sapphire ring needs to include diamonds only if creatively required and should not be a forced inclusion, which when done, takes away the wholesome beauty of the jewel.

Most of the jewelry stores including some online stores offer a wide range of sapphire diamond engagement rings. One may browse and select one for the special day. A selected few designs are given here which may be considered when buying or placing an order for custom ring. Classic elegant settings include round sapphire and diamond prong ring, oval cut sapphire and round diamonds channel set ring, and round white sapphire three stone ring with princess cut diamonds. More spectacular designs include pear cut sapphire ring with pave set round diamonds wherein the sapphire stone also is intricately lined all around with tiny diamonds, trillion cut sapphire with round diamonds eternity ring, round pink sapphire and diamonds five stone ring, and cushion shape blue sapphire ring with channel set round diamonds. Many more exquisite collection of sapphire diamond engagement ring are available and one needs to spend some time leisurely and choose the best for the special moments in life.
