Article published on April 24th 2012 | Law

When a person is diagnosed with mesothelioma, a cancer caused by asbestos exposure, treatment options are the first thing on the patient's mind. Upon diagnosis of the disease, another important thing to consider is hiring an experienced mesothelioma lawyer.

It is extremely important to hire an experienced asbestos lawyer. Asbestos litigation requires specific and in-depth knowledge to be tried effectively. In fact, experience in asbestos litigation can be the single-most important determinant between a win and a loss of litigation.

Asbestos litigation is a complicated matter and requires the utmost confidence from the hired law firm. One such law firm that is not only confident in asbestos litigation, but has also helped to shape this area of law, is Baron and Budd. Baron and Budd is a front-runner in cases dealing with asbestos-related illnesses. The firm handles numerous asbestos claims each year, and one of the primary areas of practice at Baron and Budd is asbestos-related claims.

Asbestos litigation needs the assistance of an experienced mesothelioma lawyer. By engaging an experienced lawyer, patients benefit from the attorney's assimilated strategies and past learning from previous cases. An experienced mesothelioma lawyer will understand the extent to which the defendant(s) can go, and have tested strategies to counter the defense. With experience in many different asbestos-related cases comes knowledge of which strategies are likely to have the best results in various scenarios.

Here are a few things to look for when selecting a mesothelioma lawyer:

A lawyer should have a successful track record of handling asbestos-related cases

Look for a lawyer who has dealt with a number of similar cases in the past. The lawyer should have a good success rate in these types of cases.

Good lawyers handle the case themselves

Baron and Budd's lawyers handle most of their cases themselves, rather than referring all cases out to external law firms. "Farming out" cases is a common practice for some firms. At Baron and Budd, the lawyer you hire is the lawyer who will see your case through to the end.

A good lawyer should have appellate experience

If your case is decided in the defendant's favor, you can elect to appeal to a higher court. But, since not all attorneys have experience in appeals, you may find yourself on the hunt for a new attorney. Baron and Budd's lawyers, however, are experienced appellate lawyers as well, so you'll be able to continue working with your trusted advisor should you be faced with making an appeal.

Baron and Budd has offices in several states and has arranged co-counsel relationships in many more, which gives them the ability to represent patients from nearly every state in the country. To learn more about the firm or to review lawyers in your area, visit www.mesotheliomanews.com.
