

Article Side

Use your old cell phone for social cause by Pace Butler

Article published on February 5th 2012 | Mobile Phones

All people are working to make their life easier and more comfortable. They work day and night to earn better. But not everyone is fortunate enough to enjoy the luxuries of life. Many people in world are poor and deprived. They don't have access to basic amenities of life. However everyone wants to do something for them but due to the lack of information on how to help them, no one takes initiative. This world is full of misery and pains. Many charitable organizations and NGOs are continuously working towards the welfare of society. They help poor and deprived sections of society. They get donations from compassionate persons, institutions and organizations and use these funds for various acts of charity.

You might have taken part in some kind of charitable act in past. You might have seen how charitable organizations help people. You might also have made financial contributions for such noble causes. But now you have another chance to serve the humanity and give your contribution for poor and deprived sections of society. Either you can sell cell phone for earning good cash or you can now serve your society by your old models. When you donate a useless mobile handset, its cost is analyzed and an amount equal to its cost is donated to a charitable organization, which you think will make the best utilization of your donation.

You can see the whole list of all charitable organizations, which accept these donations, online. While donating your old mobile handset, you can make it clear that for which organization you are making old cell phone donations. This is the best way to serve the humanity.

At an average every person in US has at least two to three old useless mobile handsets. These mobile handsets are generally disposed in your drawers. Some people throw old phones away and some people gift them to someone they know. Their disposal is one of the biggest problems of today. Think if all persons donate these mobile handsets, how many deprived people will get smile on their faces.

In this way, our environment will become safe, some people will get another reason to smile and you will become free from the burden of disposing your old mobile handset. There are many benefits associated with the donation of your old mobile handset. Everyone gets something through this donation and you get the mental peace and satisfaction without losing even a single penny. To donate or to sell cell phone is your call to make.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/mobile-phones-articles/use-your-old-cell-phone-for-social-cause.htm> - Article Side

Pace Butler - About Author:

Pacebutler has recently joined hands with many charitable institutions for the welfare of society. It is an organization, where people sell their old mobile handsets at a good cost. You can join their a old cell phone donations campaign for the welfare of poor people. For more details on various schemes on a sell cell phone log on to www.pacebutler.com

Article Keywords:

sell cell phone,old cell phone donations

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!