

Article published on December 26th 2011 | Photography

Greece - A Perfect Location For Weddings

Greece is for sure one of the most idyllic locations for any wedding, boasting magnificent scenery with romantic locations and an extraordinary sunshine. This is why weddings in Greece are a top choice for every couple who wants to spend the most amazing week of their entire life.

The sea, the beach and all the greek islands create a perfect surrounding for an amazing wedding. The cosy atmosphere combined with the friendliness of Greeks provide every couple with a opportunity to get closer one to each other and evade all the tension of their workplaces. The mystic beauty of Greece and its islands, the legends and the traditions, the breathtaking sunsets, the deep blue sea and the romantic atmosphere are just some of the reasons that many couples all around the world choose Greece as a top choice for their dream wedding experience and honeymoon.

Most of the weddings in Greece are held in Santorini, especially due to the amazing volcano with the sea 1000 feet below, which is quite romantic for many. The procedure is simple: you'll just have to contact the mayor of the community in order to have a legal civil wedding, and a priest or pastor for a religious wedding.

Another tremendous advantage and one of the reasons many choose weddings in Greece is that you don't have to travel very far for your honeymoon, because you're already there. For couples who wanted to bring their families and friends to their honeymoon, the problem is solved: if they come to the wedding ceremony, they're already there.

Traditions For Weddings In Greece

Greece is a country full of traditions and centuries of history. The traditions for Greek weddings are impressive and worth of knowing. In ancient Greece, brides wore traditional wedding veils in red or yellow, which represented fire. These brightly colored veils were meant to protect the bride from all kinds of evil spirits. Another interesting fact about weddings in ancient Greece is that the diamonds were considered tear drops of the Gods, being believed that a diamond reflected the flames of love. A lump of sugar carried by the bride in her wedding day was considered to be an omen for prosperity and sweet life.

In a traditional Greek wedding day, the groom need to ask the bride's father for his daughter's hand in marriage, because the parent's blessing is considered crucial for a happy life. Another tradition is for the best friend of the groom to accompany him to the church and be in charge of the ceremony (of course with the priest). He also places a couple of gold crowns usually made of orange blossoms on the heads of the groom and the bride. For the rest of the wedding, those two are honored as king and queen.

Others traditions like dishes that are smashed on the floor for good luck and money that is thrown at the musicians are a little more modern for weddings in Greece.

In conclusion, weddings in Greece are very popular nowadays and all the history and traditions give them a huge advantage over other locations.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/photography-articles/weddings-in-greece-traditions-and-facts.htm> - Article Side

Eleni - About Author:

Dona Helen is a a wedding photographer based Athens, Greece. She is photographing a weddings in greece. Her passion is a gamos photography.

Article Keywords:

weddings in greece, wedding photographer greece, wedding photography, weddings in greece, gamos,

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!