

Article Side

Healing the traumatized was never so compassionate by Jonysmith

Article published on January 6th 2012 | Psychology

A recent fire break in a major hospital in some part of the world took several lives of innocent people. Over 90 lives to be precise. The fire broke in the basement at midnight. A building full of ill and physically weak persons and the fire fast catching up! Imagine the agony of the already sick persons being captivated in the blaze. Some patients fast asleep, may be under the effect of sedatives, not even knowing that their lives are ending. Some were found severely burnt. Most of them died of suffocation.

Television news showed pictures of horror. It showed the faces of anxious relations of the patients admitted the doctors, nurse, and administrative staff on duty on the fateful night. A part of the crowd blamed the negligence of the authority, one part on lack of timely rescue operation. A small part of the crowd comprised of faces of relations of people who have been timely informed and been able to save the lives of their beloved. The newspapers gave reports of those who survived. Some reported, some woke up from sleep anxious of some danger, some still got the smell of smolder, some felt suffocated and choked and some could not sleep at all. Several investigations followed, new rules formed. Victims were declared monetary compensations. However, one aspect was never talked about; the healing of the traumatized victims. Be it a patient or a doctor on duty, whoever has witnessed the fire, ran for their lives, saw fellow members being choked to death, got a whiff of smoke had his life changed forever. Like this incident, there are several unfortunate events happening everyday around the world where the surviving victims are not taken adequately taken care of. Take for example, the victims of road accidents. However, if you are in New York and you or someone close to you have met with motor accident then you can turn to a reliable friend for help. Therapy Services New York is an organization that has dedicated itself in the service of no fault new York motor accident victims.

An accident on road, irrespective of whoever is at fault, leaves the victim with physical and mental scars. The no fault ny victims receive all kinds of help starting from help in getting payment of medical bills to reimbursement of damage repair for the vehicle. An accident leaves the no fault New York victim with not just physical pain but also mental trauma, financial loss and relationships that go wrong. For these new York no fault sufferers, the organization takes a very systematic approach. In a private, caring and professional set up, the experts make an evaluation of the current psychological state of the patient and prepare a detailed report. Then a trained professional helps the patient open up with the problem, helps him understand his current state and teaches him coping skills. These services are paid for by the No fault New York insurance. So, if you know of any victim requiring medical attention to cope with mental trauma after accident, refer him Therapy Services for best medical attention.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/psychology-articles/healing-the-traumatized-was-never-so-compassionate.htm> - Article Side

Jonysmith - About Author:

Therapy Services New York provides psychological help to thea no fault new York victims of car accident new York. a No fault ny victims of every kind of on road motor accidents, be it bus or car are counseled and helped to overcome the trauma. This a New York no fault counseling organization helps the victims in all ways, which include receiving reimbursement of current and future income loss, payment of medical services including psychiatric services, damage to the vehicle and more.

Article Keywords:

no fault new york, no fault ny, new york no fault

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!