Homes for Rent Detroit by Jhonny Wright

Article published on May 4th 2012 | Real Estate

The Detroit, Michigan metropolitan area is home to over 4 million residents. This can often mean competition for homes for rent Detroit-wise is prevalent. It's important that renters beware of offers that seem too good to be true, because they often are. In such a tough market, fake landlords rent properties they don't own, taking large chunks of money from unsuspecting renters. Classified ads may charge property viewing fees or application fees for properties that aren't on the market. These reasons and others are why it's important to use an established rental company with ties to the community and to its renters.

Ahometoownllc LLC stands out among all other rental companies for its dedication to customer service and happiness. Each property is directly owned by the company, which means it has undergone strict screening processes that consider location, local schools, travel accessibility, neighborhood safety, and much more. Because these homes belong directly to the company, they also offer the unique possibility of owning your rental property should you enjoy the property and local community. Because of this option, ahometoownllc works with renters to ensure the home encompasses their unique style, and often makes changes to suit a family's personal touch.

Use ahometoownllc comprehensive website to find your next dream home for rent. Search from their list of existing rentals by specifying your needs, or check the coming soon tab to get a head start on properties soon to be available. Or, fill out the online application to save time and effort and let the company help you with your search right away.

Unlike many landlords, ahometoownllc wants you to become a part of their loyal and dedicated rental family. By helping you find your ideal rental home, they anticipate it will turn into your dream home to own. Neighborhood offerings currently include Allen Park, with attractive and affordable brick homes and spacious front yards. Or explore the listings located in Westland, a community featuring many well-landscaped ranch homes. Though many homes are in high demand and may go quickly, currently serviced areas also include Canton, Dearborn, Farmington Hills, Royal Oak, Trenton and more. Once a property catches your eye, click the link to explore ahometoownllc's in-depth information on the property. This includes local street maps, detailed photos, a sortable school district listing with links to the school district home page, a Yelp restaurant locator map, and a Walk Score showing nearby restaurants, grocery stores, parks, and more.

Whether you're just starting a family, looking to retire, or sharing with roommates, ahometoownllc provides unbeatable customer service and dedication to quality. The company purchases local properties and turns houses into homes for families looking for homes for rent Detroit. It also offers those families the ability to later purchase the home they've grown to love. Getting started is easy by using the company website. You can download the rental application form and print it, or fill out the online form right on the site without any printing, faxing, or scanning. Be sure to sign up for new property e-mail alerts, and don't hesitate to call the office directly at (248) 921-2021.
