The Future of Internet Marketing by Stella Richard

Article published on November 29th 2011 | Seo

Advances in internet technologies have lead to speedy evolution of internet marketing strategies. Internet marketing has come a long way since the "circulation of mass-emails"™ to the thriving social media marketing practices in today's age.

Though Social media websites Twitter and Facebook are the leading online marketing tools, other popular sites such as MySpace, Reddit, Tumblr, StumbleUpon, LinkedIn and Orkut have a fair share of influencing power to the target audiences. In fact, internet marketing Vancouver agencies are opting for alternative clutter-free platforms to start a dialogue with target audiences.

Internet marketing as a promotion strategy is here to stay. The future of internet marketing is doubtlessly bright. With newer platforms such as Google+ launching with innovative internet marketing opportunities and a pre-existing user base, the future of e-marketing is about to get even ore cost effective.

In addition to this, other conventional internet marketing strategies such as Search Engine Optimization technologies are about to go get a major makeover. With search engines introducing features that allow users to upload visuals as against the traditional keyword based searches, SEO activities will have the flexibility to get creative with image and animation based information.

The introduction of 4G technologies and increasing internet speeds, users will be allowed to access mouse over zoom up snap shots of web pages on search results. Also, upgrades in search engine features such as voice search and search as you is expected to motivate users to go beyond the first page of the search engine result.

Among other unimaginable possibilities offered by search engines, internet marketing Vancouver agencies expect search engines to provide additional support to e-commerce by providing customized reports with price comparisons, reviews and other information for the benefit of buyers.
