According to Imelda Marcos, "I did not have three thousand pairs of shoes; I had one thousand and sixty." You don't need a thousand pair of shoes when true satisfaction can be derived from a few select ones that are made specifically to cater to a specific need. Mens Vans Skate Shoes are specifically designed to protect your feet from one of the most aggressive extreme sports known as skateboarding. This is a sport where people use flat surfaces as waves to ride on and travel great distances at the same time. This game became popular in America, some where around in 1940s in California where people wanted to surf on a flat surface. Shoes designed for this sport specifically have flat surfaces on the bottom which are generally made from rubber, polyurethane, suede or composition leather to make them very light. These shoes have to be very comfortable and light so that the skateboarder would have maximum flexibility, agility and traction to move over a flat surface on a skateboard. They are designed to be very durable and handle the abrasiveness of the grip with the street. Many skateboarders tend to go through shoes very quickly because of the aggressiveness of this sport, and they have been demanding a higher level of quality from these products for a long time.

Vans Skate Shoe has answered the call and it presents a lasting durability in competition to many other brands in the market. They use thicker threads and triple stitching to keep these shoes from being ripped before their due time. These shoes are specifically designed to be as light as a feather and this helps a skateboarder feel completely free to ride the waves of the street. The quality of the sole is the true soul of the shoes that have to be of the best quality so that they do not run down easily. Many of these shoes have vulcanized sole which are superior in quality to a rubber sole because they can be bent and are very flexible but they will also go back to their original shape. They are also a great Christmas gift for those people who love this sport, and are always happy to have a different skate shoe in their wardrobe. These shoes are also worn by bicycle BMX riders as they need the same kind of traction on the road. They can also be used as a part of casual wear and many non-skaters use it in their every day life.
