Golden anniversary marks the fiftieth year of your marriage. For any couple to reach that mark is a remarkable achievement. Very few married couples are able to reach that stage. So, this is an occasion worth celebrating. It is hard to compare any other achievements with a golden wedding anniversary. The fiftieth birthday in a person's life can somewhat come close to this. So, the golden wedding anniversary gifts should always be very special.

Obviously, gold should be the central theme for all your golden wedding anniversary gifts. So, gold plated glasses, gold jewelry, golden buttons, it can be just anything. Stretch your imagination as far as possible to come out with your 'special golden gift.' However, you would have to think even more if you want to deviate from those traditional gifts. Presenting the gift that you gave your spouse on the first wedding anniversary can turn out to be an excellent romantic gesture on the occasion of your fiftieth wedding anniversary. It will tell your spouse about your love and care in the most beautiful way. A retouched picture of your honeymoon on a golden frame can be a memorable gift as well.

On the other hand, while looking for 50th birthday gifts of your spouse or friend, you should consider the personality of the individual seriously. Check interests of the person. Try to find out what makes the person most excited about. This interest can be anything from gardening, sports, music, movies. If it is sports, then you can include sports shoe or jumper in the list of your 50th birthday gifts. In case of movies or music, you can present a DVD or music player. If the person is passionate about gardening, then gardening tools can definitely bring a smile on that person's face.

No matter what your 50th birthday gifts or golden wedding anniversary gifts are, you should try to make them as special as possible. Try to bring in a surprise element within your gifts. An element of surprise is capable of making even an ordinary gift into a very special one. Try to give a personalized gift to a special one. A print or an embossed image of the person can give a personal touch to the gift that would be hard to forget.

The internet is a great place to find some unique 50th birthday gifts or golden wedding anniversary gifts. You can make your pick from the various gifts, based on your budget.
