

Article Side

Varieties in the wedding gowns by Teuku Tajuddin

Article published on December 24th 2011 | Shopping

Wedding dress is the most important thing, for the person who is about to get married, whether it is a groom or a bride. Amongst both, the bride and the groom, the dress of the bride is something about which, everyone talks about. Men's dresses do not have much variety. Whereas, when it comes to female dresses, then a huge variety is available in them. Designers say that the number of bride dresses is equal to the number of brides present in this universe. A huge list of designs in wedding dresses is available. Wedding gowns are worn by the brides, throughout the ceremony and thus, they need to be as elegant, as they can be. The personality of the bride must be complemented with the dress, she is wearing. It is the bride, who will select her wedding gown, as she is the one who will be wearing it and no one can know a person better than himself. It is the top most priority of every bride to select the best dress, for the ceremony. Wedding gowns can best represent the personality of the bride.

Since, the beginning of this universe and until now, a huge change has been seen in wedding gowns. When we talk about the bridal gowns of the 19th century, then they were shorter from the front and long, from the back. The tail of the dress is usually carried by the bridesmaids. However, today, trends have been changed to a great extent. There was a time, when bridal gowns in white and off white color were selected the most but today, these gowns are available in many other colors, too. In the past traditional gowns, were worn by most of the brides but now, they like to wear customized dresses made by their own choice. You can find many tailors in the markets, who can stitch a dress, according to your requirements. You just need to specify the style and provide the cloth and the dress would be stitched for you. You can copy any latest trend dress and get it stitched, accordingly to the style, you want to carry. You will look great, when you will wear yours, very own customized dress.

In different countries, the wedding dresses are found to be different. When it comes to wedding dresses in India, then they are mostly made with stone work and heavy embroidery. As time is changing, the trends in the color and style of the wedding dresses are changing, too. Yellow, orange, pink, maroon, golden and brown are not worn by the Indian brides. The fabric used for making the dress includes georgette, satin, tissue, crepe etc. Their traditional wedding dress is sari. On the other hand, Chinese brides wear dresses that are similar to the western dresses. They have a choice to wear three dresses throughout the day. So, they have to be very much diverse regarding the selection of the dress. They can select different dresses of different styles.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/varieties-in-the-wedding-gowns.htm> - Article Side

Teuku Tajuddin - About Author:

Teuku Tajuddin is a contributor to customdancedress.com (www.customdancedress.com), One of the best Online wedding dress store. He has been writing articles on a Wedding Gowns for many years.

Article Keywords:

Wedding Gowns

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!