In-car entertainment has been a part of vehicle features, and car dvd player has become the most impressive auto electronic product. This electronic is a reliable item for making travel in cars very relaxing and entertaining. Now you can see various car dvd players with different types, designs, and styles in automotive aftermarket or in the online stores, one of which is the roof mounted monitors.

Among all kinds of dvd players, you know that the in-dash dvd player may be the most common and popular model among car owners. But there are still some people prefer to other dvd players such as the headrest monitors, armrest monitors, sun-visor monitors, or roof mounted dvd player. When you go to the market, you may feel confused by what you have seen. But anyway, you need to learn well about the dvd player before buying it. Now take roof mounted dvd players for example.

Roof mounted monitors can provide amazing and interesting entertainment programs during the long trips for your passengers, especially passengers sitting in back seats, whether it be your friends or family, there will be laughter all the way. Roof mounted monitors are built for entertainment and for comfortable and delighted atmosphere in your car, and which is just the reason that make roof mounted monitors stand out from the rest dvd players on the roads.

Roof mounted monitors is basically a DVD player with a 9 to 12 inch screen. They are usually very effective when it comes to space saving as the screen can be flipped, flips down when you use it and when you're done just flip it back up. Usually it also has the feature of 180 degrees swivel. It is easy to install. You can fix the DVD player at different locations within your car without whole vehicle modification, but usually mounted on front roof, so your back passengers have something to do on those long trips and even those really short journeys. They usually come in various amounts of colors so it will match the interior of your car making it more stylish than ever.

The monitors are multifunctional, and they aren't just for watching DVDs on. It also supports game playing! Many monitors come with 2 gaming controllers. Worry about that your car gets pretty noisy with the game playing? It is unnecessary because most of those roof monitors come with wireless headphones so you can sit in the front and enjoy your music or silence, up to you! In addition, some also plays picture disc or cards, you can immediately browse your pictures even during your trip.

As you can see that roof mounted monitors can do much wonders for your car by providing quality entertainment as well as a stylish look. Car dvd players have become a very competitive auto electronic so you could find a very good one that meets your requirements and fits your car at the same time. Have a good trip with a roof mounted monitor in your car!
