

Article published on February 21st 2012 | Software

Computers are mainly used to store and retrieve the information or media files. Downloading files are usually store on it. To protect your important data from other users, you need to set the password. Sometime you also forget the password and try to install the new window. It may leads towards the crash of the system, and collection of data is loss. For that; you need to recover the windows. There are many issues, which leads the system to crash.

Crash computer is that condition in which your computer can't works properly. Often this is due to some hardware or software interruption to the system. An application tool typically crashes when it performs such operation, which is not allowed by OS. It leads towards the blue screen message, which is harmful to your system. It might see a message that says, "Windows is not working properly and need be shutdown to prevent from harmful damage".

It is the major cause of boot disk failure. If you want to prevent from the disk failure, you need to shut down the system properly. There are a lot of issues occurred while loading the windows setup. It is due to the minor change in you BIOS. It can easily resolve by update the computer motherboard Basic Input Output system. Error messages are also the cause of system boot failure. It is an information message that display when an error occurs on your computer. These messages are often occurred when you change the hard disk or not assigning the privileges rights to the guest users.

There are a lot of reasons that cause the disk boot failure of the computer. It includes hardware, software, registry, and many others. Hardware is a major cause of disk boot failure, because once the hardware is damage, it can't be recovered easily. For that; you need to use the redundancy module. It is helpful and easily secures your data from the disaster. One of the major causes of boot disk failure is the installation of unnecessary software on your machine.

Most of the software is useless and incompatible to your machine. It may also contain viruses, which are the harmful for your computer and corrupt your system easily. For that; you need to install the antivirus program to prevent the system from viruses. One of the major and important causes of the disk failure is registry failure. It can easily control and maintain by the windows registry editor.

There are a lot of options available in Windows 7 to prevent the systems from hard disk failure. You can easily recover your windows by system recovery option. You can also create a restore point of your system. There are many situations when you computer can't boot properly. For that; you need to use windows 7 recovery . From it, you can easily recover your system window and change the window password. You simply insert the win CD and recover your window. Windows 7 recovery offers you to boot the system via CD or USB. You can easily repair your corrupted window in few clicks.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/software-articles/recover-your-windows-7-and-reset-password.htm> - Article Side

Socialweb - About Author:

a Windows 7 recovery is easy with wondershare that is a simply great way to recover the system and the a windows 7 recovery disk helps in the same by providing safe and easy platform.

Article Keywords:

windows 7 recovery,windows 7 recovery disk

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!