Do you want to find a easier way to share video or picture on You Tube, Flickr, Tudou, Youku or other site? Now I will introduce a method for you!

First of all, you have to have a software called VideoFlick, it is a very good and easy to use video share and authoring software, you can download and try it for free form here:
<http://www.blazevideo.com/videoflick/>

After you installed and launch the software, let's getting started:

1, Run Blaze VideoFlick After you download the software from our website, you can install it in you computer, then run the software.

2, Load video or image file you want to add watermark Press "File - Open" or the "Import" button to navigate to the files you want to add. Or drag & drop the image or video file(s) to the grey area.

After one or several video or image files are imported successfully, you can see all of them listed in the program.

3, Choose share "Online" function Select a video file, then press the "Online" button bellow, a video sharing window will pop up, you can select a online service to share your video. After that, you should input your user name and password and click the upload button.

That's it!
