Roger Hamilton and How Not to Loose You While Creating Wealth by Corwin Smith

Article published on February 1st 2012 | Success

Rarely would you get to see a man who has the courage as well as the guts to point a finger at a system that has been in existence since a long time and off and on has given results to the people. But the point of discussion is that how many times that system has really given the results that are long lasting as well have a positive impact on the economies of the governments that are well and truly interlinked with the global economy. And every time such a debate would arise the answer would be in negative. The present economic system that is the be all an end all for majority of the economies around the world and the common man on the street has resulted in more number of recessions as well as depressions than making the developing economies as well as the under developed economies of the world take a step towards prosperity. Roger Hamilton is the only man who answered the questions and that too with a lot of authenticity.

And Roger Hamilton was able to do it because he touched the right chord as far as the art of wealth creation is concerned. It is really important to know what exactly he was searching for when he was on his own path of searching the real meaning, the real craft of wealth creation as well as the real meaning of the ways that were till now operational in the world of economy. And it would be surprising to know that he realized that the force behind the creation of the man himself was missing in the entire scheme of things that were governing the economy of the world. And that real force was the Mother Nature itself.

Roger Hamilton himself did a lot of introspection and had to do a lot of research in really uncovering the truth behind the real meaning of wealth creation and how a common man on the street needs to be guided properly so that he does not loses himself in his pursuit of wealth and riches. And the missing vitality that he realized had to be injected into the system, which is the Mother Nature, he did that first in his own experiments and then when he found success there he formulated a number of theories like wealth dynamics and wealth spectrum. And these are the theories that are going to be the beacon for the rest of the world as far as the art and craft of creating wealth is concerned.
