Come holidays for children and parents are on their toes planning the sequence of events for the entire vacation. Going on tours and trips are an important part of holidays. If you have not yet explored Goa in any of the previous trips, it is time you undertook Goa tour this vacation.

Goa tour is the best way of refreshing yourself and rejuvenating your sense after long months of stress filled routine. Your Goa tour is sure to be a stress buster for all of you away from all the worries of daily life. You can check out Goa tourism sites, you will be greeted by a lot of information especially if you are planning a trip to Goa with kids. This time, make the trip a treat for your kids by including some special places for them to enjoy. Booking into Goa hotels and resorts near the sea are a great way to spend a vacation.

Out of the numerous places promoted by Goa tourism, you can choose to visit those places which are of more interest for kids. You can make churches and beaches an integral part of your Goa tour. Your children will love to be exposed to so many churches, history and culture behind each of them. Some of the important churches are church of Rachol Cathedral, Tomb of St. Francis Xavier, St. Augustine church and Se Cathedral.

Goa, being the Beach capital of India, children would love to spend most of their trip time in the beaches. Some of the famous beaches you can take them to are Agonda beach, Baga Beach, Colva beach and Varca beach. There are a lot of water sports like boating, diving, kite surfing, catamaran sailing, parasailing, jet skiing and water skiing which you can introduce children to. Trained guides help your children master the basics of these water sports. You can also take a break in Goa by going Bungee Jumping, Go Carting or wildlife cruising. Although, most of these sports are for the adults, children can get an idea as to what all these sports are about. Since children these days spend most of their time playing games on the computer, an exposure like this will broaden their thought process. You can organize children's theme based parties at the Goa beaches. It is the best place to party, with good music and great food.

Goa tourism promotes Vasco and Panaji the two important cities in Goa which are major tourist attractions. There are good shopping markets in both these cities, other than various other places to visit for your children. You can use the vacation to introduce your kids to the world of local Indian handicrafts in the Panaji and Vasco markets. In addition to shopping, various cultural activities are always carried on in such places.

Whenever you plan to visit Goa, you can choose to stay at those Goa hotels which provide child friendly amenities and facilities. During the festive season, special arrangements are made at these hotels to bring out the best in terms of culture and tradition in order to showcase it to tourists from all over the world. Hotels in Goa are specially built keeping the tourist population in mind and hence, the facilities here are tourist friendly. In these hotels, you can relish delicious Goan dishes since varieties of them are offered in almost all the Goa hotels.
