Hotels in Delhi-All about Business and Luxury by Edna Purviance

Article published on December 8th 2011 | Travel

Today, when we say Delhi, we not only mean "The capital City" but the city surrounded by National Capital Region-"The NCR". With long history of the city, Delhi was already in the eyes of the people everywhere and they know about the place more or less. The NCR region is newest of the identities Delhi carries with itself. Gurgaon, Noida, Greater Noida, Faridabad and Ghaziabad are the business attractions of the place. As the population of Delhi continues to grow due to business and livelihood opportunities, these places are becoming the modern business hubs in Delhi. This is why the hotels in Delhi seemed to be busier than usual. Old Delhi Hotels and New Delhi hotels are redesigning themselves to cater the growing need to accommodate business people.

The growth in business avenues like Infrastructure, Information Technology, Media and PR etc have contributed a lot in the hotel business of the city that was already buzzing with the timely appearances of popular and not-so-popular celebrities. Hotels in Delhi are always easy to find as tapping the opportunity, many real estate giants have come up with grand hotels taking care of all the necessities of the guest. Hotel like ITC Maurya, Hotel Grand Park Inn, Hotel Taj Mahal and Hotel Leela Palace represent the league of grandeur and styled living. Then there are Le Meridian, Hilton Garden, Sheraton, The Manor and likes that redefine luxury and hospitality. One just has to think how much he can look or rather overlook his pocket.

Due to the MNCs coming to India, almost every company has its head office at Delhi or NCR. This is one more reason of foreign visitors coming here. After their business hours they like to explore Delhi if of course time permits them to do so. Old Delhi Hotels and New Delhi Hotels are designed to take care of them rather well so that they keep repeating their visits, in Delhi and in their hotels.

Hotels in Delhi could be booked by going to the official websites of the hotels or with the online travel portals that have list of the hotels tied up with them for the ease of the traveler as well as for the growth of their mutual businesses. Taking this in to considerations, hotels in Delhi are growing faster as the world business is gaining new grounds every day in the City. Still, Businesses aside, Delhi welcomes everybody with open arms to come and forget every other thing.
