

Article Side

Travel Tourism Course in Sydney: the Key to a Successful Career in Travel Industry
by Ben Bradshaw

Article published on June 4th 2012 | Travel

Are you planning to join a travel tourism course? Sydney is home to reputed institutions that cater to people searching for a flexible program. A quality travel and tourism course in Sydney ensures that regardless of the mode of instruction, a student attending the course receives the best training.

Features of travel and tourism course in Sydney

A quality travel and tourism course in Sydney offers a top-notch curriculum designed to cover everything in the travel and tourism industry. From training students how to design the best travel package to teaching the features of the latest reservation software, a travel and tourism course in Sydney prepares students to become successful professionals in the travel and tourism industry. Students attending travel and tourism course in Sydney are trained by experts in the field, people who have managed reputed travel and tourism companies successfully for several years.

Educational requirements of travel and tourism course in Sydney

The minimum educational requirement for joining a travel and tourism course in Sydney is usually a high school diploma. However, several people planning a career in travel consultancy may choose to earn a bachelor's or higher degree before joining the certificate program in travel and tourism. Knowledge of world history, geography or foreign languages can be an added advantage for aspiring travel consultants.

Areas of employment

After completing a travel and tourism course in Sydney who can easily find an appropriate job in the travel and tourism sector. You can join travel and tour agencies, domestic and international airlines companies, domestic and international airports, international rail, hotels or resorts. You can even open your own travel agency or become a licensed tour operator. Few travelers have the time or knowledge to plan a holiday overseas. Majority of international travels are handled by travel agents. Hence, there is a huge employment opportunity for people who have received a travel and tourism certificate from a travel school in Sydney.

Curriculum of travel and tourism course in Sydney

The subjects usually covered in a quality travel and tourism course in Sydney include worldwide airline reservation system, ticketing, travel insurance, geography of major tourist destinations and communication. Serious students of travel and tourism can complete the short-term course in 3 to 4 months. Keeping in mind the importance of flexible programs, a quality travel school in Sydney allows students to complete the course in a year. After completing the course, aspiring travel consultants receive one or more certificates that help them to get a suitable job or become a registered travel agent.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/travel-tourism-course-in-sydney-the-key-to-a-successful-career-in-travel-industry.htm> - Article Side

Ben Bradshaw - About Author:

If you are looking for new a Travel Consultant Courses and want something full of fun, excitement and variety, the travel and a Tourism School Adelaide is a good place to start. Bill Healy Travel & Tourism College provide a Travel Tourism Course Sydney at your own pace and with best convenience. We are known for our training excellence and our reputation!

Article Keywords:

Tourism School Adelaide

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!