Super Six Computer Logo Pictures by Computer Magazines for Technology Enthusiasts by Tammy Becker

Article published on December 31st 2011 | Web Design

As the world grows, so does technology.

Technology has advanced so much that there are specific computer magazines just for technology enthusiasts.

Below mentioned are few computer logo pictures by famous computer magazines that have added another level to the technological world.

1. Iphone Life:

This technological magazine is specially created for Iphone and Ipad users who want to know more about their products and services. Their business emblem consists of the Iphone monogram in simple black fonts with colorful text above and beneath the company name. The touch of red and blue colored text along with blue colored soft edged and double shaded box adds an appealing and soothing touch to the brand mark.

2. Mac Life:

Personally, this is one of my favorite symbols. It consists of the words "Mac"™ and "Life"™ in straight fonts with a blue vertical line separating them. There is an image of computerized flower with four petals. The flower adds a soft touch to the trademark and makes it easily memorable. The words "create, share, enjoy"™ are inscribed beneath the emblem. Overall, this design is a complete depiction of the values, services and technological standards that the company has to offer.

3. PC World:

Their monogram consists of the company name in thick and straight white colored fonts on a red background. The bold color of the emblem is eye catching and energetic. Overall, this design is as suitable for an entertainment magazine as it is for a technological one.

4. Official XBOX:

Their brand mark is a perfect image to represent a technological magazine that is trendy and tech-savvy. It consists of a silver ball with a light green cross over it. This image is encased in a rectangular box with the company name written in light green shade. Overall this is an image that any techno magazine will be proud to adorn.

5. WIRED:

Their monogram is more playful than professional or technological but it is perfect for the youth who are technological enthusiasts. It consists of the company name crafted with alternately boxed and colored letters that gives it a funky look. Overall, the image looks trendy, young and fun loving.

6. CPU computer power user:

Their monogram is crafted in thick and white colored fonts that make it hard to miss. The curvy edges coupled with straightness of the fonts add a sensitive appeal to the brand mark along with looking professional and proficient.

So if you are crafting a logo design of your own for your technological magazine then you can use computer logo download which will be easy to create but will only give you generic images that will be boring to look at and not memorable. Another idea is to get computer software and start designing an emblem that is distinct and appealing. The choice is yours.
